Safety notes January 2018

Well, the Florida winter is upon us, and that means we need to pay some serious attention to air AND water temperature during our TBSK paddle trips. While our club's Trip Leaders should be relied upon to be familiar with the guidelines in our Paddling Guide (Appendix E), responsibility to dress appropriately for the conditions expected on the day of a paddle are everyone's responsibility. Our guideline is that when the combined water and air temperature is under 120, "cold weather clothing" is a must for a

TBSK trip participant. Generally, that translates to "warm when wet" clothing (paddle jacket or dry-top and long "paddle pants", often with a fleece vest) or dry or wetsuits. Consider an example: You're planning on a Level II paddle of about 6 miles in the Gulf on a day when the water temperature is 66 degrees (as it is when I'm writing this), and the expected daytime high temperature is predicted to be 50, what to wear? Well, the combined temperature is only 116 so you dress as described here for cold weather paddling.

Please remember though that this is a "Guideline" not a "law". Be reasonable, but be aware – don't neglect the water temperature. If you should find yourself "unexpectedly immersed" you'll be glad you dressed appropriately. Hypothermia is real and can be deadly, even here in sunny Florida. Please understand that if you do present yourself for a TBSK paddle on a 48 degree morning in February wearing a cotton tee shirt and jeans the Trip Leader isn't going to welcome you to the group!

The Newsletter Editor Has Retired, Long Live the Newsletter Editor

By Hank Brooks

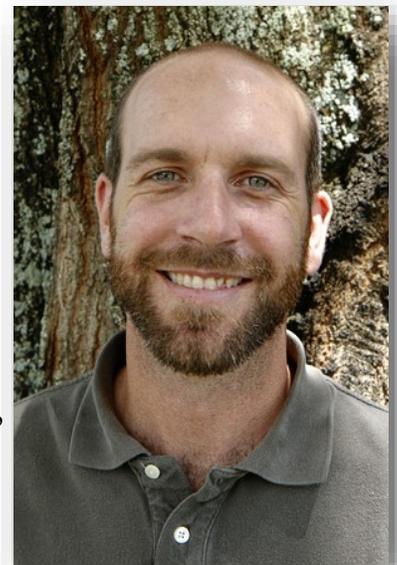

After four fun filled, fantastic years, Bryan Katz has retired as the TBSK Newsletter Editor. The newsletter he produced was wildly acclaimed by all members as the best that they had ever seen. Because of this, Bryan was one of the recipients of the Ed Styron Outstanding Service Award at the December 11 Holiday Party (see separate Holiday Party article). This picture was taken at the Holiday Party of Bryan (on left) awarding the Carl Navarra Award for outstanding contributions to the newsletter, to our new Newsletter Editor, Bill Biles. Long live the Newsletter Editor!

Trip Summary of Trip Leaders for 2017

By Bob Morris

Below you will find the paddle summary for the year ending November 2017. The trip counts include leader's paddles, the picnic paddles and training events. The people counts reflect the event participants plus trip leaders. The trip by leader total exceeds the trip count total because some events have co-leaders. The data is taken from waiver forms submitted for each event.

-Trip counts are similar to the prior year. Total trips were 110 which is one more than the prior year. The total of trips by leader is 143, down by three from the prior year.

-Although trip counts were level, total participants this year were up to 944, a significant increase of 203 or 27% from the prior year. The participation increased for all trip levels. Note that level 0 was introduced at the end of last year, reducing level I counts this year.

-All levels showed increased participants but training events show the largest growth in all measures; event count (+6), participants (+86) and % change (+154%). This is due to the emphasis on training at the picnics, dedicated training events, and the trip leader

Many of our TBSK members are interested in camping, especially from a kayak. If you are interested in camping, please make sure to let Gary Bernier gwbarnier@gmail.com know. Contact him you need to get in touch with all of the TBSK members interested in camping .

Member Requested Trips

Anyone can request a paddle to a location they want to go and we will see if we can find a trip leader to lead the trip for you. Just submit a Trip Request by the 10th of the month prior to your trip so the next newsletter can advertise it with the trip leaders' name.

You Can Do This By Emailing tbsk@tbsk.club with "Trip Request" in the subject line.

1. Put-in and take-out locations
2. Destination and total distance
3. Preferred Date(s) and time
4. Skill level required (see Trip Planning/Paddling guide on TBSK.club)
5. Phone number (should trip leader have questions)

Trip Coordinator will:

- Post this trip request with the monthly "request for trips" which is sent out to trip leaders.
- Notify the person requesting the trip if we can find a trip leader and if the trip can be led exactly as requested, or if some modification to the trip is necessary.

New Places To Paddle

Comments from our member survey observed we always paddle the "same old places". We need to get out of our rut! With that in mind, we are encouraging our trip leaders to expand their paddling horizons. All members should note that we have a "Paddle Places" section on our web site which lists places to paddle in the greater Tampa Bay area (see menu on bottom of the home page).

In "Paddle Places" one of the things you will find is the Pinellas County Paddling Guide, which lists about 100 different places to paddle in Pinellas County - where most of our members live. The link to the guide, which TBSK helped create, is found below:

<http://www.pinellascounty.org/blueways/pdf/BluewaysGuide.pdf>

If you have a favorite place to paddle, and it is not listed in "Paddle Places", please contact Hank Brooks at jbrook5@tampabay.rr.com

TBSK Holiday Party

By Hank Brooks with pictures by Bill Biles

The TBSK Holiday Party is held to celebrate another great year of paddling, to share stories with our paddle buddies and to thank all the club officers and members who help make our club the best paddle club in Florida. We were pleased that about 60 members showed up for our party. A special thanks to Liz Hogrebe and all her Santa's helpers who were essential in making the party a success.

Speaker

Mike Clay, Channel 9 head weatherman, held an open discussion on hurricane Irma and other past storms to get people's reaction to hurricane warnings and what they did/ did not do to prepare themselves. Mr. Clay said that some weather channels may have "over hyped" the storms, which actually scared people to take actions which might not have been necessary for their safety. He was non-committal on which weather channel had the best weather radar.

Recognition For Service

Our president, John Marek, gave Hank Brooks a special Certificate of Appreciation for all the work he has done for TBSK during the past several years. Bill Biles received the Carl Navarra award for his many contributions to the newsletter. Both Tom Komar and Bill Biles were recognized for their "Assistant Trip Leader" help on many TBSK trips the past several years.

Ed Styron Outstanding Service Award

Each year we award the Ed Styron Award to the TBSK member(s) who has made outstanding contributions to the club. The person is elected by past winners of the award. Before the 2017 awards were given out, past winners who are still active in the club were recognized:

Phil Sheesey – who stepped up when we had a crisis in leadership

Bev Hand – who was a selfless Activities Coordinator for 7 years

Eileen & George Burns – who help guide the club for many years and help push for our new web site.

Keith Fowler – who was on the board for almost 10 years, filling many of the board positions

For 2017 we had two award winners:

Bryan Katz: Bryan was our first winner of the award on this evening. Bryan has been the newsletter for four years is ready to retire.

Since the time Bryan took over the newsletter, he has surprised and dazzled us with some great graphics and creativity such that members were saying – "Best damn newsletter I ever saw." He also started and has maintained the TBSK Facebook page in an effort to attract new members.

Bryan divided the newsletter into many different sections, from trips, to trip stories to facts about local on-the-water events. He did research into topics to find both articles and stories to spruce up the newsletter.

He took the extra step.

He included such features as "Member Requested Paddles" & "New Places to Paddle".

Tom Sobocinski: Our second winner on this evening was Tom.

TBSK is more than just about going on paddles. For the past two years our club has enjoyed first class training sessions under the leadership of Tom Sobocinski, with the help of Eileen Burns. We would like to recognize Tom because most people do not know

By Hank Brooks with pictures by Bill Biles

Two years ago the classes started out with modest attendance. By the second year they were overwhelmed with attendees. Sometimes attendance reached seventeen students.

- ◆ Tom & Eileen did some of the training themselves. Tom also brought in experts who could share their skills with club members. Some examples of these training sessions were:
- ◆ Bracing skills session where we started the instruction on land, progressed to water's edge and then onto the water.
- Tom Malone, a Greenland paddle expert, taught how to use the magic wooden stick for more things than just starting a fire.
- ◆ Jean Totz held a skills training session which was very much appreciated.
- ◆ Terry Hobbs taught kayak camping skills.

Trip Leaders Recognized

Bob Morris, Trip Coordinator, recognized all 17 of the trip leaders that were active in the 12 months through November 2017. In 2017 we had over 100 trips led by our trip leaders. There was significant growth in member participation in trips, from 741 to 944 paddlers in the current year. The growth was across all skill levels, training being the greatest and was attributable to the efforts of all the trip leaders.

The recognition was in five categories highlighting specific trip leader contributions:

- 1) Training: Tom Sobocinski, Eileen Burns, Steve Henkind,
- 2) New or unique trip planning: Cynthia McGregor, Al Tillson, Therese Eby
- 3) Core knowledge of veteran leaders; Phil Sheesley, Mary Mangiapia, Andy Bartley, Keith Fowler, and new leaders Clay Kent and Bob Morris
- 4) Paddle planning in southern area (across the bay), Terry and Charlene Proeger, Carl Boettger
- 5) Dependability / energy including highest trip count leaders; Hank Brooks, John Marek.

Kayak Tips & Tricks

By Hank Brooks

Recently I was transporting my kayak from the water to my car across an asphalt parking lot. I wasn't paying attention and the boat slipped off the kayak cart, chipping my gel coat. That was careless of me! I know that I should have used a tie-down strap, but then I was too lazy to go all the way back to the truck to get one. What to do? I got some straps, but a buckle on them and bolted them to my kayak cart so that they are always there when I need them – take a look at the picture.

Braden River - Linger Lodge Trip Report

By Terry Proeger Photos By John Marek

Four of us launched at Jigg's Landing and paddled 4 miles to Linger Lodge, had an enjoyable lunch on the screened porch overlooking the river, and then returned to Jigg's Landing. We had started with 7 prospective participants the day before, but 3 people didn't make the paddle for a variety of last minute reasons, resulting in our small group.

Linger Lodge has been closed for renovations for several months. It reopened a few days before our paddle. Although updated, we are happy to report that the restaurant still retains some of its Old Florida charm. The menu has been simplified, but the food remains similar, if not identical, to that served previously.

Since the river is dammed below Jigg's Landing, the Braden River always has enough water for a paddle no matter how low other rivers in the vicinity are. The river is a nice mix of natural scenery and scattered housing developments. Nevertheless, it retains much of its natural charm and is a very pleasant "urban" paddle.

We plan to do this paddle again on a Saturday in a month or two to give more people the opportunity to enjoy this beautiful river and unique restaurant.

Anclote River

By Hank Brooks with Photos by Bill Biles

Every time I looked at my computer, two more people had signed up for our Anclote River paddle in early December. We ended up having 15 people sign up for the trip. I was quite pleased when Al Tillson, another trip leader signed up, to help me manage the group. After launching, we were pleased to find that another member, Richard Arenella, had paddled from his Anclote River house to join us. We divided the group into two – one for Al and one for myself, with Bill Biles helping where he could and taking pictures of us all.

It was a beautiful day for a paddle, with the air temperature in the 60's, not much wind and the sun was shining brightly – heating up the day as the sun rose. Our first stop was just around the corner from our Craig Park launch point – Spring Bayou.. This is where the Greek Orthodox bishop throws a crucifix into the water each Epiphany and young men dive into the water, hoping to retrieve the cross to be king of the carnival and have one year of good luck.

From there, Richard wanted us to see the Tarpon Springs shipyard, where fishing boats were at different stages of construction. From there we paddled past the sponge docks as tourists snapped pictures of us saying such things as, “That looks like fun!” From there we headed upriver to just past the U.S. 19 bridge, where we viewed what I call the “Castle House”. This is a landmark on the river which has a tower as part of the house – therefore the name.

We took a break on the shore to have lunch and rest a bit. The paddle back was pleasant and non-eventful. Another great day to be on the water.

John Chestnut Park & Brooker Creek

By Hank Brooks with photos by Jennifer Call & Emil Assily

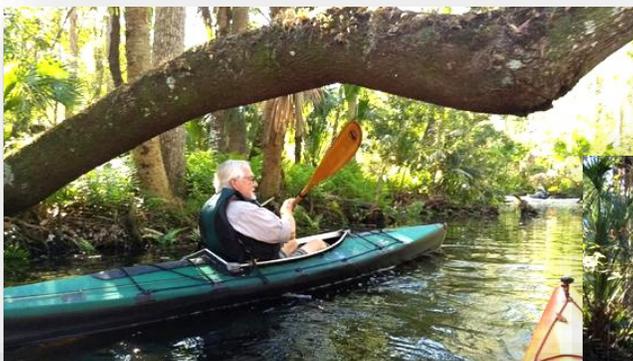

As Forrest Gump might say, Level 0 paddles are like a box of chocolates, you never know what you are going to get until you open the box. On this very nice Saturday morning in mid-November 10 TBSKers headed to John Chestnut Park to explore Brooker Creek and the southern end of Lake Tarpon. On the trip were two new members – Jennifer Call and Bill Staab and guest Jim Hoover. Thanks to Ian Brown who agreed to act as our sweep. Along the way it was easy to determine that everyone was a Level I or above paddler, so we changed the distance and speed to suit the group.

Our first stop was Brooker Creek. Even though it is very close to a busy city, with East Woods Lake Rd (Route 610) running over it, the creek is serene with its quiet forest canopy. As we paddled past the bridge the creek got narrower and at times appeared almost like a magical forest. Something Ansel Adams would be proud to claim as a picture. On the way back downstream we met a group of 25 paddlers from local neighborhoods who were paddle up the creek. They were led by TBSK member Gerald Allen, who had dropped by my house several days earlier to have TBSK brochures on hand to give to the group.

After the creek, it was time to explore the south east part of Lake Tarpon, all the while looking for a place to get out of our boats and stretch our legs. There were a few motor boats on the lake, mostly fishermen, but not enough to have it feel crowded or create sizable waves. Along most of the south-eastern shore of Lake Tarpon, it was difficult to find a takeout suitable for a group our size. There were a lot of places which has signs which read, “Private Property – No Trespassing” in large letters. Anderson Park was about a 3 mile paddle further up the lake, but that would make it over a 9 mile paddle in total – not advisable. We did find a small concrete boat ramp which a few of us were able to take advantage of to prevent severe leg cramps. Most of us waited in our boats and moved our legs a bit to avoid cramping.

A few short miles later we were back to the take-out and lunch. All told, we went slightly over five miles – a great trip. Weather
